HIGHLIGHTS — THE PUBLISHER'S OWN FIGURES

- 1 Gold ETFs came under selling pressure in Q2 (-45t).
- Bar and coin investment held steady y/y (307t) in Q2.
- Central banks made significant gold purchases in Q2 (289t).
- Jewellery demand fell to its lowest quarterly volume since the pandemic (278t), as high gold prices and broader inflationary pressures continued to constrain affordability.
- In comparison, spending on gold jewellery was up 14% y/y at US$40bn, confirming gold's continued importance in share of wallet.
- Technology usage of gold again firmed slightly (80t) as AI-related demand offset weakness in the consumer electronics market.
